
Title: Night in the Valley 1

Author: Professor Ellie Rafkin

The dim light from the campfire flickered against the canvass tent. In the still of night the jungle was alive with the howls of monkeys and the singing of crickets. A gentle breeze rustled the fronds of nearby palms.
Even though it had been months since I'd left the Lyceum, the jungles of Eodon still made me uneasy. I had seen such beauty in the Valley
during my time here.
Brilliant fauna gave Eodon character and intimacy.
Meandering streams cutting through the verdant landscape made it feel alive and fertile. In the distance the towering caldera of a great volcano smoked confidently, owing to its wise past. On the surface, Eodon appeared inviting and warm, but a foreign and present danger lay hidden beneath.
I had been fortunate enough to only encounter the Myrmidex once.